It is one of the misfortunes of language that the word "souvenir" conveys so much less to the English-speaking world than it does in the original French: souvenir—remembrance, "Memory with all her busy train!" But, happily, the exquisite bit of music that Kreisler is recording this month, one of the loveliest and most poetic of all compositions that have been dedicated to Memory, already is known to the greater part of the music-loving world. It is both sweet and sad, as memory has to be. The violin tells its own story.

DIGGIN' THE GROOVES

BOB DAVENPORT

As I get under way with this latest chapter in the adventures of adventurous Bob among the exciting reissue grooves, I find myself into a New Year; the old one wasn't one of my better years, but I must say we did have a lot of interesting releases, most of which I was able to tell you about. Hopefully, the new one will be productive also.

I would like to take just a moment out here, if I may, to thank all of the readers of RR who have written me over the past year, and for their kind words on my little efforts. As always, I'll be only too happy to help locate any elusive item I may review here, so you may write me at: P. O. Box 3537, San Rafael, Ca. 94902, and I'll get to your letters just as quickly as I can.

I have here in front of me three SUNBEAM LP's I'd like to tell you about now: SB-210 is titled "THE FABULOUS DORSEY BROTHERS" (from the Casino Gardens, 1946), and it's a live sound "remote" featuring both Tommy and Jimmy and their orchestras from this ballroom in Santa Monica, Calif. that Tommy bought in 1946. There's a good mixture of some swingy instrumentals, and vocal numbers, featuring Dee Parker, Stuart Foster, Charlie Shavers and Bob Carol. --- You Dorsey fans should have this one.

SUNBEAM HB-308 is a radio show from the 1935 period featuring GUY LOMBARDO. The sound on this one is not the best, but it's still interesting music by Guy during this period. Of course, Carmen and The Lombardo Trio are heard on the vocals.

SUNBEAM HB-310 goes back further, and covers a longer period, from 1925-1934, but I think it's going to be an item a lot of you will want to have in your library. This one features the "Ol' Maestro", BEN BERNIE --- "And All The Lads"! Note credits show us that Ben is heard on some vocals, and the Keller Sisters and Lynch are given credit on "She's Still My Baby", but all of the other vocals are a mystery. --By the way, one of the pianists in this band during this period was Oscar Levant!

For those of you who remember the fine horn of TEDDY BUCKNER, you'll be glad to hear that AIRCHECK #10 features Teddy and his small group in a LIVE BROADCAST from the famous CLUB HANGOVER in San Francisco in 1955. It's a great nostalgic sound, and the remote announcer is Fred Goerner, who is the author of the book on Amelia Earhardt.

I have just finished listening to TOTEM 1022, "ON THE AIR" with BING CROSBY from the KRAFT MUSICAL HALL DAYS, and this show was BROADCAST on MAY 27, 1937. It sure takes one back to those golden days of radio as we hear announcer Ken Carpenter, Bing, Bob Burns, Jimmy Dorsey & His Orch. with special guests Rudolph Gonz, Zazu Pitts and Gail Patrick. And, even though this was not an especially exciting night as far as the guests were concerned, there's still a lot of fun in this LP recollection. As a bonus, we're treated to a couple of Bazooka Solo's by Bob Burns!

RICHARD M. SUDHALTER, along with P. R. EVANS, have written a book called "BIX: MAN AND LEGEND", published in London in 1974, and along with his devotion to the late bix, Mr. Sudhalter plays a mean cornet, as much like Bix as he can get the lip to duplicate. And late in 1974 all of this led to the formation of THE NEW PAUL WHITEMAN ORCHESTRA, which became a sensation in concert in England. --- And I find it especially amusing noting a quote in the notes from some teenagers at the October 5, 1974 Show, when they said, "For Chrissakes, look at all those Saxophones"! Allen Dell in England has been playing the LP of the new Paul Whiteman Orchestra for some time, as have other radio personalities there, and I first heard of its existence through tape friends from the U. K. -- and now, good news! You can also enjoy this fresh sound because MONMOUTH EVERGREEN has released the LP here on ME/7074. The arrangements are authentic, and they've even gone so far as to try and duplicate the Bing and Rhythm Boys Vocals. The arrangement credits go to Bill Challis, Tom Satterfield and Lennie Hayton. It's the kind of an item I think you'll dig, even though it's not a re-issue.

All collectors of reissue LP's should bow to the east in the direction of the temples of RCA, and especially to producer FRANK DRIGGS, because the month of FEBRUARY 1976 produced 5 more double LP sets on their reactivated BLUEBIRD series!

Because of the great amount of material to tell you about, I must refrain from going into any lengthy details; the main purpose anyway, is to let you know these items DO exist because the proof is in the listening, and there's a lot of good listening in all of these releases.

We lead off with a long overdue salute to that master of the Soprano Sax, SIDNEY BECHET on AXM2-5516, 37 cuts of some fine sounds from 1932-1941. Tommy Ladnier is here on some cuts, as is Mezz Mezzrow, Manzie Johnson, Sidney Deparis, Sid Catlett, Rex Stewart, Earl Hines, Baby Dodds and others.

Next, Vol. II in the "COMPLETE GLENN MILLER" series on AXM2-5514, all items from the year 1939. The usual Miller vocalists are here, and there's a sprinkling of Miller Instrumentals. Included is the elusive "Sold American".

AXM2-5532 is another "complete" series item, this time Vol. III, the 1936 period, of BENNY GOODMAN. Most of the vocal work is handled by Helen Ward, but Hamp is heard on one, AND Ella's heard on three.

An initial entry into the "complete" series is made by ARTIE SHAW on AXM 2-5517, covering the 1938-39 period. Like the item above, most of the vocals are handled by one gal, Helen Forrest, but Tony Pastor also has some "Mike" duties, and the marvellous Billie Holiday is heard on one cut.

BLUEBIRD AXM2-5524 spot-lights that great dance band vocal group THE SMOOTHIES, some with HAL KEMP and some with a studio pick-up group. Oddly enough I never used to like the Smoothies when they were popular, but now they seem to have a refreshing sound, and there's something there that I must have missed back in those late 30's and early 40's. I think you'll like it too!

Our next item is another in the JAZZ STUDIES LABEL releases, this one JS-3 (and, I'm told, available through Coda Publications, Box 87, Station J, Toronto, Ont. M4J 4x8, Canada). This LP features some EARLY RED NICHOLS from that 1925-1927 period when Red was with various recording groups. And as much as I personally enjoyed the music, I must go on record (Ouch!) as nominating this outfit for the most clever, decorative and informative covers of any company doing this type of release. You see, every title is shown on the front of the LP, the original label reproduced with all the label info.: 16 round circles of pure delight! -- I LIKE it!

A couple of items were received from MONMOUTH EVERGREEN around the first of February I'd like to tell you about now:

MES/7073 features music from two original cast shows from England. On one side you'll hear "CAN CAN", while on the other, "CALL ME MADAME", and while the names of the artists may not mean too much to you, I can guarantee that you'll enjoy their interpretations of the songs from these two great shows. The theatre orchestras are conducted by Charles Prentice on "Can Can", and Cyril Ornadel on "Madame."

MES/7072 is something else again, as this one is also a double header, BUT one side is devoted to the GENE KRUPA BAND of 1941, with the husky voiced Anita O'Day doing three vocals. Side B features the band of ZIGGY EIMAN from 194t, featuring the voice of the beautiful VIRGINIA MAXEY on four of the seven numbers featured on this side.

Listening to radio adaptations of famous movies can be a lot of fun, as I have discovered recently, and one of my favorites is on PELICAN 140. This is a 1941 broadcast of "LOST HORIZON", starring the superb voice of RONALD COLEMAN. As this LP progresses you can close your eyes and actually see again all of the action from this famous movie.

Since its inception RECORD RESEARCH has been an innovative clearing house for vast amounts of Record information, much of which has gone into major compilations like Brian Rust's landmark discographical works. In the interest of CUMULATIVE RESEARCH with the purpose of serving as an immediate check list for Harry E. Avery' section herewith - and for other interested researchers who wish to send photos, personnels, corrections and addenda to further enhance the JACK ALBIN research project - we reprint the JACK ALBIN pages which appeared in Volume 1, pages 8 - 13, of Brian Rust's "AMERICAN DANCE BAND DISCOGRAPHY 1917-1942" published by Arlington House. Now! for Harry Avery's studious discographical research and probe into the recordings of JACK ALBIN!!

Jack Albin RESEARCH

by Harry E. Avery

Harry E.Avery
4538 Ellen St.
Oakland, CA 94601

For our initial venture into what I would hope will be a continuing series I have selected a single group upon which to comment. Rust identifies these records under the heading "Jack Albin" and covers them on pages 8 through 14 of Volume 1. Here is a section that requires attention in at least three areas; incomplete data, obviously incorrect information, and much that is open to question. The first two, with relevant notes, are covered in the detailed listing that follows, but the last, being speculative, needs discussion.

First it should be made clear that my remarks are directed only at those records made by or for the COLUMBIA subsidiary labels and dating from DECEMBER 12, 1929 to NOVEMBER 5, 1930. I know nothing about the earlier Edisons and have no reason to question those titles for Crown. With respect to the latter, those that I have heard are good dance records, using custom arrangements, and competently performed. The Columbia offerings, on the other hand sound as if they may be doctored publisher's stocks. The participating musicians are capable technicians but with a few exceptions, have no opportunity to distinguish themselves individually. At times the lead trumpet is allowed a dead straight solo and occasionally the solo violinist gets a few bars to himself. Other than that everyone is limited to either section passages or full ensemble work.

The exceptions noted above are provided by a trombonist who is present on at least three sessions, those of June 22nd and 25th, and August 26, 1930. This character, whoever he may be, is either a recent escapee from the razza mazzaza Barnum & Bailey school of music, or has a spaced out sense of humor - perhaps both! At any rate his solo escapades on "She'll Be Comin' Round The Mountain" and "It Ain't No Fault Of Mine" are, considering his immediate enviornment, startling - to say the least...

To the best of my knowledge Jack Albin's name appears only once in connection with the Columbia sides. This is on the last session shown for this series, that of November 5, 1930, where the Harmony-VT-Clarion issues were released as by "Jack Albin & his Hotel Pennsylvania Music". So perhaps he did have something to do with this date, although the records themselves give no unusual indication of any change in style or performance.

Twenty-Five odd years ago when Woody Backensto was preparing his excellent "Ben Selvin Discography", Columbia informed him that the recording director for the great majority of the dates in question was "Unknown". Even including that of November 5th when Albin's name was used on the various labels. It is possible of course that Rust has uncovered new evidence in the Columbia files that would place the blame for these performances on Albin's shoulders. It is likewise possible, I think, that Brian has made an assumption of guilt by association, simply because so many were released under the "Hotel Pennsylvania Music" name, and Albin did have a resident band there during 1930-31

My own theory is that Phil Spitalny was the leader most likely to have been responsible for producing these problematic records. To substantiate this speculation I can offer no concrete evidence other than that which might be sheer coincidence, but the following points deserve consideration.

(1) Again referring to Backensto's Ben Selvin publication and the data he obtained from Columbia, one of the few pertinent session where the recording director was not identified as "Unknown" is that of June 4, 1930, and here the session director is shown as "Phil Spitalny". True this is the only date so noted but even this puts him one-up on Albin, who even though he was accorded label credit, was never named as the recording director on any session for which information was then available.

(2) Howard J. Waters, in his masterful treatise, "The Hit-Of-The-Week Record - A History And Discography" (Record Research, Issue 26, Jan./Feb. 1960), provided the following information. From February through August of 1930 Spitalny was employed as director of the house orchestra at Durium Records, producers of the HOTW label. The, after an absence of one year, he would reappear in the same capacity, beginning in September, 1931 and carrying on to that company's ultimate demise in June, 1932.

Now throughout the February/August 1930 period the same title was recorded separately for both Columbia and HOTW on at least eleven occasions. I have not been able to audition all the duplicated titles, but I have, not without considerable pain, been able to hear most. To me there is an uncanny similarity in almost every respect; instrumentation, performance, and with some minor revisions, the arrangements. Accordly it is difficult for me to conceive how two separate minds and batons could possibly give berth to such similarly lackluster products. Incidentally, one of the duplicated titles, "The Maine Stein Song", was even issued under the "Hotel Pennsylvania Music" name on every label involved, whether Columbia in origin, or HOTW; and here Rust not only slips the HOTW record into the Albin section, but also includes it where it rightfully belongs, under Spitalny in Volume 2.

Later, during Spitalny's second hitch at Durium, he waxed "She'll Be Comin' Round The Mountain" in October, 1931, and here the arrangement is note for note the same as that recorded for Columbia on June 2, 1930. Except that on the HOTW, because it is the second or "bonus" tune on the single sided record, the limited playing time available required a cut in the arrangement. Which is a bit of too bad since it deprives us of finding out what might have happened to that wacky trombone solo on a second effort.

So on this admittadly flimsy evidence I rest my case. Anyone who disagrees is free to fire at will - including the world's foremost discographer...

A brief further discourse is necessary but this concerns the vocalists appearing on these records and has nothing to do with who directed the band. Readers with sufficient stamina to wade through my list of additions and corrections will note that I often differ with Rust on the identification of the vocalist. Here I feel on firmer ground and have almost complete confidence in my selections. In Brian's defense, however, I'm sure that he has never had the misfortune to hear most of these sides. Otherwise I am certain that he would never have confused Irving Kaufman with Bill Coty on so many titles. Apparently he has assumed that because the pseudonym "Tom Frawley" was often, though not always, used to cloak the identity of Kaufman on many of the earlier acoustic Harmony, et al, labels, that the practice was continued during this period. The truth is, however, that after mid-January, 1930, when the Columbia subsidiaries finally switched to electric recording for all their releases, Kaufman was no longer employed with the same frequency. Whereas the acoustic horn had welcomed his stentorian tones, the microphone required more "soul" and less volume. Certainly it takes no unusually acute ear to differentiate between the quavering Irish tenor of Coty and the robust bravura delivery of dear old Irving. I am not sure of the correct spelling of Coty's name - whether with a "t" as in cosmetics, or a "d" as in Buffalo Bill.

It has been listed both ways but here I have shown it as it appears on the various Columbia labels and as listed by Rust. In any event I think that Bill's only recorded contribution of any lasting value occurred when he was drafted on short notice to take a pair of vocals with McKinney's Cotton Pickers, replacing the great George "Fathead" Thomas, whose untimely accidental death had occured only a few days before the session.

As a parting shot at an old friend; probably the most surprizing aspect of this entire section is the fact that Rust had apparently not heretofore tracked down the presence of his secret passion, Miss Annette Hanshaw, on the January 30th session. Here is an omission without parallel in the history of his discographical endeavors and I fervently hope that the sudden shock will not cause any permanent damage to his psyche.

To conserve space the following listed data makes no reference to any titles or band names used, unless there is some deviation from the information as shown in "The American Dance Band Discography (ADBD). Recording dates are used as initial controls, followed by the matrix number of the titles directly below. Where I can furnish take numbers not shown or different than those in ADBD, they are underlined. Only matrices shown are those on which I have specific information to either verify, correct, or add to the data given in ADBD. Missing dates and/or matrix numbers simply indicate that I have no information on these, and not that they are necessarily correct.

Record label(s) and catalogue number shown in the right hand column are those from which my data has been obtained. There is always the possibility that this may differ on the various labels involved. This is especially true with respect to Clarion, which often contained label information that was at variance with the data shown on Harmony-VT-Diva.

Information taken directly from the record label is shown in quotes, as for example "VR - Sid Garry". "VR" being used as an abbreviation for either "Vocal Refrain", or in a few cases, "Vocal Chorus". In those cases where I feel that I can safely and correctly identify either an unnamed vocalist, or one which is obviously a pseudonym, my opinion is shown in parentheses following the data shown on the label. For example; "VR" (Scrappy Lambert), or "VR - Tom Frawley" (Bill Coty).

Here is complete revision of Albin's CROWN output compiled by the Record Research editors. Rust's given recording dates are of course very approximate. We would guess that the first 1043/44/45/46 Albin masters (that is - if they are indeed masters!) were recorded within the Nov.28,1930 week. Incidentally we included the alphabetical letters when found following the takes. We do not know at this time what they mean. We have received reports that VICTOR pressed CROWN!!

FRITZ KREISLER
The First 100 Years
1875 - 1975

KREISLER, FRITZ, Violinist (Krïce'-ler)

KREISLER

- Kreisler was born in 1875, and although brought up in an atmosphere of refinement, he confesses that at one period of his boyhood his great ambition was to be a trolley conductor! Fortunately this youthful ambition was succeeded by an ambition to excel in music. This he did at an early age, as do so many artists of real genius.

At the age of ten young Fritz won the first prize at the Vienna Conservatory; and in his twelfth year astonished the professors at the Conservatoire in Paris by winning the Prix de Rome, an unprecedented occurrence. As a boy prodigy, he toured America with Rosenthal, returning to Austria to enter other fields. Although during these four years he abandoned violin practice entirely, on his reappearance in 1899 his bow was as true and his technique as flawless as ever. Since then he had toured and concertized, interpreting in the terms of his own experience all that has come to his notice.

Kreisler is one of those cosmopolitan artists who can brighten and vivify, for the untrained hearer, compositions of the less obvious kind. But he also has the power, not so common, perhaps as many of us suppose, to take a musical work of no great distinction, and make of it, by sheer force of humanism, a thing of deep and genuine beauty. There is little in violin music that he has not explored, brought forth, and at times enriched with his own vast knowledge. In his own particular field—and it is a large one—he is one of the greatest men of his time, or of any time in the history of the violin.

(For solos with Kreisler's obbligati see "Farrar" and "McCormack." For three records of the Bach Concerto for Two Violins, see "Zimbalist.")

HUGO KREISLER

Hugo Kreisler, though he is less known in the United States than his distinguished brother Fritz, is known widely throughout Europe as a violoncellist of highly unusual powers. His Victor records reveal a tone of remarkable beauty; fluent, elegant, rich, varied, without "scrape" or roughness of any description.

It may as well be pointed out here, as elsewhere, in dealing with others of the great artists who have made records of the violoncello for the Victor Company: that no instrument, even the violin itself, exceeds the 'cello as an instrument of expression in music. Its technique, like that of any instrument worth mastering, is subtle and difficult. In its perfection, it must be applied with the utmost sensitiveness, the utmost strength, and the utmost control. More than this, the 'cello seems to possess the uncanny power of exposing any insincerity, any lack of sympathy on the part of its player. For this reason, artists like Hugo Kreisler, rank so high in the world of music.

FRITZ KREISLER

THE FIRST HUNDRED YEARS (1875 - 1975)

By John Sam Lewis

A few years ago the late Joseph Szigeti urged the postal authorities of Austria to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of Fritz Kreisler's birth with an appropriate stamp. Record collectors, on the other hand, would hope for more tangible recognition in the form of reissues of some of his recordings. Although the actual date of Kreisler's one hundredth birthday, February 2, has passed, year 1975 is now over. In 1973 RCA commemorated Sergei Rachmaninoff's one hundredth anniversary with a reissue of virtually the entire recorded output of the great Russian pianist. The following year RCA ignored Serge Koussevitzky's one hundredth anniversary and so far this year has celebrated Kreisler's by deleting the excellent two-record set, "Immortal Performances" (LM-6099) and announcing a most ambitious reissue of Jascha Heifetz's early recordings. Unless EMI reissues some of Kreisler's European recordings the present-day collector will have to content himself with what thrift stores and auction lists have to offer.

If a collector depends on selective reissues of Kreisler records alone he probably will form a distorted idea of the violinist's playing. Kreisler's recording career began in 1903 or 1904 when he made a few sides for G&T. These very early records are rare, but most of his later recordings are still pretty easy to find. His records sold extremely well in the 1920's and after.

However, when a performer from the past is chosen for reissue in LP form record companies tend to pick his most early modern recordings on the theory that those will most easily transfer. With Kreisler, the most recent recordings are usually his worst, both technically and artistically. Although other instruments weren't picked up by the acoustic horn very well, the violin recorded surprisingly well, particularly in the last seven or eight years of acoustical recording. As far as recording solo violin was concerned, electrical recording was disastrous. Later electrical recordings did not capture, as the acoustical process had, the natural violin tone. Notes played on the lower strings, especially the A string, were made by the electrical process to sound as though they were being played on the E string. Only in the last years of mono LP recordings did the violin begin to sound like its natural timbre, and stereo records--especially early examples--were unmitigated sonic disasters. Heretical as it sounds, I'll take the acoustical process any day!

The second reason was that as he became older Kreisler's technique suffered. Photographs of Kreisler playing show that, like Szigeti, Kreisler held his right elbow at about a 45° angle from the plane of the violin. Most violinists today raise their elbow up almost level to the violin, making bow control much easier. But at the turn of the present century the usual position was to hold the right bicep close to the body and the elbow low. Many violinists then used to practice by tucking a book under their armpits. The great violin teacher, Leopold Auer, was responsible for the change. The result is that today Auer pupils and their diciples exercise better bow control because they engage the entire arm in it. The older players depended on their right wrists for bow control, and as a violinist gets older his wrist becomes subject to arthritis, and he can no longer hold the bow so steadily as he did in his youth. That is why, in the TV special a few years ago, Jascha Heifetz, at seventy, could still exercise virtually flawless control.

Kreisler had a few lessons with Auer, but apparently the Auer position didn't take. And in his later years Kreisler could not hold his bowing hand as steadily as he had in his younger years.

In addition to his bowing, Kreisler did not have a strong left hand; in fact, he had to use unorthodox fingering at times to compensate for a weak index finger. In that way Kreisler made necessity a virtue because when one uses the "wrong" finger to play a given note he makes the note sound subtly different from what would happen if the "proper" finger were used. The unique Kreisler tone may in part stem from this physical weakness. In his later years, however, Kreisler had to make some compensations of a different kind, like slowing down the tempi of fast passages as he did in the second recording he made of the Beethoven concerto, for instance.

Last, and most important, Kreisler's hearing seemed to deteriorate. He did not go deaf, but the recordings of his last years seem to be perpetually about half a tone off key. One of the reasons why the violin is such a devilishly hard instrument to play is that it is so easy to play off key. The violinist must have a very keen ear, and if his hearing trails off he can expect a premature end to his career. One noted string player today has been virtually retired for the last decade or so because of hearing loss. Somehow, Kreisler seemed not to realize that, in the last decade of his public career, his ear had lost its acuity, and no one was cruel enough, apparently, to tell him.

The early records that Kreisler made show us a greater violinist than most of us today are likely to remember. His bowing technique, while never in the Heifetz class, is much surer, the intonation is nearly flawless, and the fingering more accurate. The qualities that we do remember--Kreisler's taste and intelligence, his highly individual tone so utterly unlike any other violinist, his warmth of feeling which never left him--can also be found on these early records, but the lapses of his later years, that most of us had learned to overlook, are absent. In addition, as Fred Gaisberg, who had recorded Kreisler's first records observed, the electrical process failed to capture Kreisler's tone as well as the earlier process had.

Not all of Kreisler's later records are inferior, however. The three sonatas he recorded with Rachmaninoff are all fine, and the 1928-30 sound surprisingly good. His first recordings of the Beethoven, Brahms, and Mendelssohn concerti, with the Berlin State Opera Orchestra under Leo Blech, are electrical but are much superior to the later recordings Kreisler made of the same works. The recordings of all the Beethoven violin sonatas with Franz Rupp, made in the early-1930's, show a certain decline, and the Kreutzer sonata in that series, a rather fussy reading, is hardly competitive with either of Bronislaw Huberman's contemporary recordings of that work. Oddly enough, Huberman was also a violinist with a few intonation problems.

Most of the records of particular interest, though, date from acoustical, or very early electrical, times. One especially good record is the Tartini Variations on a Theme of Corelli (Vi 64156) on which he is accompanied by George Falkenstein, who seems to have been a Victor staff accompanist (and a good one) specializing in playing accompaniments for violinists. Some of the pieces in Kreisler's repertory supposedly written by eighteenth-century composers were actually his own compositions, but this Tartini is genuine. Another recording worth searching for is his 1915 reading of the Bach double concerto made with Efrem Zimbalist and a string quartet (Vi 76028/30 or 8040/41) which Kreisler himself regarded very highly. Needless to say, any early record of Kreisler playing his own works is worth collecting, but what he does best of all are the little adaptations of popular songs.

As a child Kreisler lived in a musically oriented home atmosphere, and when he first heard a violin played he immediately fell in love with the instrument. His first violin was home made; he built it out of a cigar box. Therefore, Kreisler's beginnings are not greatly different from many early-day jazz performers who used home-made instruments. But Kreisler had a more important affinity with early jazz players. He was a skilled improviser.

The art of improvisation, so much a part of Western music tradition from the Renaissance to the first half of the nineteenth century, is a lost tradition among classical performers today. Most violinists have not been trained to depart from the printed text and usually are lost without notes. But Kreisler was one of the last practitioners of the art of improvisation, and on several occasions he amazed people by his ability. Once Kreisler and Geraldine Farrar were recording in adjoining studios. Miss Farrar, dissatisfied with the results, asked Kreisler for help. The violinist suggested that the pianist pick up the tempo a bit, and on the spot Kreisler improvised an obbligato. Miss Farrar started singing, and an alert Victor engineer caught the whole thing on wax. What Kreisler intended as a helpful assist to a fellow artist became a top-selling record. Stories like that one are not unique when they involve jazz musicians, but they are almost unheard of among classical artists.

In addition to his violin playing, Kreisler was also a fine pianist. One story told about Kreisler involved a performance he made with the pianist Harold Bauer of the Beethoven Kreutzer sonata at a private party. Before he took up the piano Bauer had been a violinist. So after they had completed the sonata, Kreisler and Bauer exchanged instruments and played the work again.

That story of the Kreisler double performance may not be true, but not long after Kreisler's death, Frank Parker, a retired music teacher, wrote an account of hearing Kreisler accompany a Russian baritone named Reinhold de Warlich. When Kreisler first heard Warlich, he promised to play accompaniment on the singer's first American tour. The opportunity to do so came in Chicago in December, 1916. As Parker remembered it, "Kreisler brought his fine musicianship and sympathetic cooperation with Warlich, and, to my thirty-one-year old ears, a perfect piano technique to this program, a stiff one for any accompanist. It was an exciting performance that has remained in my memory all these years."

Kreisler made piano rolls during the 1920's and frequently accompanied, with both violin and piano, his cellist brother, Hugo, who also played in Kreisler's string quartet. Kreisler also made many recordings with his old friend, John McCormack. In the early days, these two men, both unknown then, had toured provincial England together, and in later years, when both were famous, they still performed together when the opportunity arose. Although on the records he and McCormack made together Kreisler played the violin, he did record a few piano accompaniments. My own collection contains only one recording of Kreisler playing a piano accompaniment. This record, made with brother Hugo (Vi 66040), is an arrangement of Chaminade's "Serenade Espagnole" and the piano part is too elementary to tell very much about Kreisler's playing, but all who heard him play the piano praised it highly.

I have already maintained that Kreisler was not the extraordinary technician that Heifetz and Milstein are, but technical skill is a relative matter. Heifetz and Milstein possess almost unbelievable (unless one has seen and heard them perform) technical facility, a facility almost beyond credible limits. Kreisler was never, if the recorded evidence is acceptable, quite in their class. His extraordinary talent lay in another direction. Kreisler's technique, in the early records, was thoroughly adequate, but he possessed a unique tone. He could never be mistaken for another violinist. He combined this unique and beautiful tone with another unique quality: the ability to bring out unsuspected beauty in the most banal of tunes. A hackneyed piece like Tschaikowsky's "Song without Words" becomes a memorable experience. Likewise, Charles G. Dawes' familier "Melody in A" (Vi 64961) and the Boccherini Minuet (Vi 64614) linger in the memory. But it was Kreisler's own tunes and his arrangements that reveal his unique art. How many people realize that the popular song, "Stars in My Eyes" is his (it was originally called "Who Can Tell?")? On the other hand, songs like "Midnight Bells" and "The Old Refrain" (once simply called "Viennese Popular Song") are so closely identified with Kreisler that most people are surprised to learn that they were written by other composers (Heuberger and Brandl respectively, in case you'd like to know). The arrangement of Dvorak's "Humoresque" came about because Kreisler asked the composer if he had any tunes that Kreisler could use. Dvorak did not regard the song highly but offered it to Kreisler if he wanted it. But the familiar songs like "Liebesfreud" and "Liebesleid," "Caprice Viennois," and "La Gitana" will be played as long as violinists can draw their bows. Even the discriminating Szigeti, who disdained most of the old popular standbys in violin encore pieces, was not averse to playing these. But will any future violinist play them as well as Kreisler himself did? These tunes remain great favorites because they are unashamedly good tunes, and Kreisler lavished as much skill in performing them as he would the most august concerto and sonata. His various recordings of "Midnight Bells" avoid the banality that seems to characterize every other performance or recording of the tune.

Many of Kreisler's compositions had modest beginnings. The early twentieth century produced, for reasons I prefer to leave to the social historian, composer-performers who pretended that their own works were written by others. The pianist Josef Hofmann invented a Russian composer named Dvorsky as the composer of works actually by Hofmann. Kreisler preferred to offer his compositions as works by various, usually obscure, eighteenth-century French and Italian masters. Not until the critic Olin Downes, of the New York Times, tried unsuccessfully to find early editions of some of these works and came to Kreisler for help, did the story come out. Downes seemed to have been amused by his being taken in by Kreisler's harmless hoax, but the formidable British critic, Ernest Newman, did not find the matter so funny and made shrill protests. Kreisler himself explained that he had attributed the works to others because he thought his own name repeated several times on printed programs would look pretentious.

Kreisler wrote a violin concerto, which I have never heard or seen, but most of his compositions are miniatures and he will be remembered principally because of them. He will also be remembered for his own performances of them; no other performer of these tunes has ever been able to exploit the sentiment while avoiding the sentimentality the way Kreisler could. The recordings he made of major works, such as the Mendelssohn, Beethoven, Brahms, and Mozart concerti, and the Beethoven sonatas, are interesting and worth preserving, but they are not so good as Szigeti's roughly contemporary recordings of the Beethoven, Brahms, and Mendelssohn (in fact, I don't think any performer has topped Szigeti's 1928 recording of the Brahms). The Grieg, Beethoven, and Schubert sonatas Kreisler did with Rachmaninoff are more noteworthy, but the place to start is to listen to Kreisler's performances of his favorite short pieces. The Victrola reissue LP now in the catalog contains early electricals, and one acoustical recording, but some of the acoustical recordings of the same tunes are even better. Kreisler's best records are, for the most part, to be found in attics, thrift shops, and in grandma's old Victrola. They're worth searching for, and there ought to be a good many of them around because these records had such wide appeal and sold well. Even people who ordinarily didn't buy classical records bought Kreisler's. But distinctions between classical and popular have no bearing--except those made by Victor Red Seal--on Kreisler's records. One could say he was one of the greatest classical recording artists and one of the greatest popular recording artists. He was not denigrated by snobbish critics of classical music because he chose to play popular, or semi-classical, tunes; and those who liked the popular music he played never had any reason to suppose that Kreisler regarded the performance of these songs as a kind of artistic slumming. Whatever he played, Fritz Kreisler always made his audience realize that he was playing heart to heart.

We herewith complete this listing with 40135 which was listed in an August 1948 Capitol numerical release list. We know of releases past this number but they are scattered (40160 by Cliffie Stone and 40251 and 40281 by Jimmy Davis(the last two may be an entirely new series!!!)). If any of our readers are fortunate to have a consecutive run of listings following 40135 we would like to obtain same for the continuation of this series. Also one of our good readers suggested that when possible we should try to list the master numbers to these listings which have appeared in this compilation. It's a good idea. We invite your help..

The Data Sheet -- Again!

THE DATA SHEET -- AGAIN!

A few issues back, I presented to an eagerly waiting world (joke; ha ha?) my proposed form of a standardized discographical data sheet (#125/6, to be exact). In issue #127, Horace Spear of Hemet, Cal., proposed a version of his own. So far, there seems to have been no further response to, comment on or criticism of the form as I presented it then. Actually, I wasn't satisfied with it, and have revised it a couple of times since then. The form presented herewith represents my latest, and I hope my final revision.

Again, as before, most of the form should be self-explanatory. If Mr. Spear thought my older form too formidably complex for the average amateur, I'm afraid this one is even more forbidding in that respect. However, since it is my desire that this form be capable of describing a record in as much detail as possible, I don't see any way out of asking for a lot of information, and providing blanks for it. It should also be borne in mind that not every record inspected and listed by a discographer is going to have all the information on it that the form calls for. Few records, for instance, will have both true master and control numbers on it, and many have neither. If not all the blanks need be filled in, there are many others that can be taken care of simply by putting a check mark in the parentheses. I will say, however, that apart from adding a question about whether master and/or catalog numbers are indented in the record or raised, I can't think of any more additions that could be made to it, and that one is not, perhaps, very important.

I have incorporated provisions for the description of lead-in and lead-out grooves, as suggested by Mr. Spear, because I agree with his contention that these are often helpful in spotting dubbed-master reissues.

While I've had a ball cooking up this data form and its companion sheet for cylinder research, I haven't been doing it just for my own enjoyment. I have a purpose behind all this, which ties into a bigger idea of mine, which is so Utopian in nature that it may never come to pass, anyway. Basically, the idea behind the forms as I've envisioned them is this: they would provide a standardized form in which discographical data, once recorded, could be easily exchanged between individual discographers AND (here's the Utopian vision!) some sort of clearing-house of discographical data. It would be the function of this clearing house to gather every possible bit of information available and store it, preferably in computerized data retrieval systems, so that it could be made available to individual researchers quickly, easily and at nominal cost. If Joe Blow of Kokomo wanted, let's say, as complete a listing as was available of the Okeh vertical-cut records, the clearing house ought to be able to provide this, in the form of a sequential numerical listing or perhaps (if only certain individual numbers are sought) individual cards. The data forms would be used to program the computerized system, providing the most complete possible description of the record.

(2) Re side designations below: in cases where label specifies "A" and "B" sides(e.g., Victor), first(or A-)side should be indicated with a capital "A", second by a capital "B". Most Edison discs designated the first side as "R", second as "L"; for these, a capital "R" or "L" should be used. For etched-label Edisons that lack these designations the first side should be that bearing the lower matrix number; this should be indicated by a lower-case "r" or "l". For other records whose labels do not bear side designations (e.g., Cameo), the side bearing the lower matrix number should, again, be designated the first and indicated by a lower-case "a". Where neither side designations nor matrix numbers are visible(e.g., etched-label Operaphones), the title whose key word comes first in the alphabet may be arbitrarily designated the first side. Here, too, the lower-case "a" should be used.

DESCRIPTION, SKETCH OR PHOTO OF LABEL(Optional): | REMARKS:

The Columbia Aluminum Tone-Arm Adapted to the Cylinder Graphophone

This is decidedly the greatest improvement in the evolution of cylinder "talking machines."

The musical world remembers the instant success that came to the Columbia Disc Graphophone when first equipped with our Aluminum Tone Arm.

We have now adapted this Tone Arm to the Columbia Cylinder Graphophone.

It is a scientific fact that aluminum metal has the remarkable quality, when used as a sound conveyer, of wholly eliminating all false vibrations and producing a soft, full, perfectly natural tone, impossible to obtain from any other metal. The Aluminum Tone Arm on this new model does away entirely with any of the hollow horn tone that is unavoidable in the ordinary construction.

This model BQ machine is very compact, and very similar in general appearance to the Columbia Disc Graphophones, the horn swinging over, and in any direction above the cabinet, occupying hardly more space than the cabinet itself, and wholly dispensing with the awkward, unsightly horn crane, horn stand, and rubber tube connection.

The motors are noiseless in operation, and the cabinets are beautifully designed, made of the finest selected oak and hand polished.

Every machine is equipped with the Lyric Tone Reproducer.

(Date of this cylinder advert??)

LK note: This cylinder did not break. The original advert was damaged by time.

(Editor:Len Kunstadt note) As an adjunct to George Blacker cylinder data sheet we herewith reproduce some fascinating rare Columbia Cylinder illustrative antiquities which will cockle the research firebrand of Blacker and others of his ilk. If our readers would like us to reprint that "complete" Columbia Cylinder catalog issued in 1910 (may be their last -and probably their most comprehensive listing complete with an alphabetical tune index)-we'll do so. What a start for utilizing Blacker's ingenious "STANDARD CYLINDROGRAPHICAL (very pioneering original terminology) DATE SHEET!!"

THE DATA SHEET -- AGAIN! (cont'd)

The obvious question arises: how could such an operation be funded? It couldn't be a profit-making proposition, that's for sure! I don't approve of government subsidies, as a rule, but if some large private foundation cannot be persuaded of the desirability of supporting something of this nature, I'd turn, however reluctantly, to Washington.

Where would the information come from that is fed into these computer banks? A large part of it would be drawn from the files of organizations such as the Institute of Jazz Studies, Yale University Library and other similar institutional collections. If these institutional collections have usable information, but cannot transfer it, the clearing house might have to arrange to send one of its own personnel to gather it. Needless to say, the individual discographer could contribute hugely to an undertaking of this nature. Indeed, without such private contributions, the whole enterprise would probably be a disastrous flop.

What, it may be asked, of the individual who may have useful information on records in his possession, but who doesn't know how to interpret it or record it? Once I'd have said there weren't many such persons around, but I got quite a jolt about a year ago that forced me to revise my thinking. I'd written to a party who I knew was an avid labels collector, requesting data on all 10-inch sapphire-cut vertical discs he had with catalog numbers in the 5000's. Sound familiar? Yep, I was after PVG data. In due course, I got back at least a dozen cards, out of which only two or three provided information that I could use. Imagine my surprise when this chap admitted that, in addition to having difficulty distinguishing lateral from vertical records, he wasn't even sure of what a master number was! It was then brought home forcibly to me that there are probably quite a few people around who are in like case with him. They'd be willing enough to help, but they're not very sure of how to go about it. What's to be done for, or about these? I've got an idea, and I'm going to try like the dickens to bring it to fruition. I'd like to write a book on the basic techniques of discographical research and data gathering. I don't know yet how big a book it'll be, but it shouldn't have to be very large or cumbersome, and I'm doing my best to make it easy to read. When I get the thing finished, the good lord willing and sparing my life, I'd like to find someone who could publish it and sell it at a rock-bottom price. It is my hope and belief that everyone who reads it would then have a good grasp of the discographical techniques that have been built up over a period of years, but whose finer points are known so far only to a comparatively few people. Wish me luck, gang; I'll need it!

Victoria Spivey

In its policy of successtully featuring high blues fidelity variety entertainment SPIVEY RECORDS is honored in presenting for its latest release LP 1016, Maestro WILLIE DIXON, and His Chicago Blues Band with guests.

Highlights — Hear BUSTER BENTON vividly lament "I Must Have A Hole In My Head" while LAFAYETTE LEAKE accounts for his everyday "Troubles" with the economy and the gals. CAREY BELL predicts that "One Day You're Going To Get Lucky" and creates quite a musical effect with his harpsichordic harmonica. VICTORIA SPIVEY has a 'rodent' problem as she tells you the saga about "It's a Poor Rat That Ain't Got But One Hole". — And in another composition by Victoria she triumphantly espouses with esprit the 'Women's Lib Movement' with "I'm Taking Over". LARRY JOHNSON signifies with "Put It All In There" and tells you the story of his "Hoodoo Doctor". All this and more! can be heard from Maestro WILLIE DIXON and his Chicago Blues Band with guests Larry Johnson, Victoria Spivey and drummer Prof. King on Spivey LP 1016.
